RESOLUTION

- Whereas: The growing number of homeless and unwanted pets have become a major public concern throughout the nation and here in Lee County; and
- Whereas: Experts across the United States have identified the most important step to end overpopulation is the establishment of aggressive pet sterilization programs & policies; and
- Whereas: Once a year our focus turns to sterilization of pets on a day designated as "Spay Day USA" – to recognize efforts in communities throughout the nation; and
- Whereas: Lee County maintains the leading edge of public policy by dedicating revenues generated through annual pet license fees to targeted sterilization programs; and
- Whereas: Lee County Animal Services continues to promote proactive, long-term solutions that benefit the community by increasing public safety and reducing future costs to the community both in dollars and animal lives; and
- Whereas: Esther Mechler, the director of the world renowned program SPAY/USA, of the North Shore Animal League International recently visited Lee County Animal Services and praised the leadership & staff for breaking new ground in public animal control & sheltering - setting new benchmarks for the industry.
